

PLAY THE POWER PATROL GAME

Here's a picture of part of my house. See me and Pete? I'm eating pancake energy. Pete's eating dog-food energy. Many of the other things at home also need energy. I'm still Power Patrol at my house. I made it into a game. I made a list of all the energy users I could find. It's really long!

You can play this game too. How many things do you see that need energy to work? When you're done, turn this page upside down. You can check my list to see if you missed anything. Then look around your own house to play the game.

Here's a hint: Batteries store energy. So look for things with batteries too.

fan, blender, coffeemaker, microwave, CD player, mp3 player, radio, light, telephone, refrigerator, and clock
